Liirn is launching a tutoring platform for kids ages 6-12

Explore a universe of learning

Copenhagen, Denmark, September, 8 - An idea that grew out of the love a parent has for their children. Liirn is founded with the mission to help kids learn a new language with a native speaker and nurture their social-emotional growth at the age of 6-12.

“We are building the next-gen learning platform by utilizing the newest technology to create learning spaces for kids - Grbll universe; where kids can play and engage with nutritional content. We will create an immersive world by transforming online tutoring sessions into immersive learning experiences where kids can learn while exploring their passions. As the kids learn, our top priority is to keep them safe in an environment that parents can trust.”, says CEO & Founder Omino Gardezi.

The Liirn app is designed for busy families:

- Parents can setup a profile for their children in minutes
- The app matches background-checked and vetted tutors to the child's profile
- After a brief intro session, parents choose if they want to schedule regular sessions
- Each week, the tutor and child meet for one-on-one video calls
- The focus is on conversational learning, rather than following a rigid curriculum
